THE SACRED HEART SCHOOL
OF MONTREAL

3635 Atwater Avenue
Montreal, Quebec
H3H 1Y4

HEADMISTRESS' MESSAGE

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations on your graduation from the Sacred Heart School of Montreal. Each of you came to Sacred Heart with gifts and potential, and Sacred Heart has provided to you many opportunities to develop and to share your talents. You have made new friends; you have discovered things about yourselves you did not know before; you have made a unique imprint on Sacred Heart. And I trust that you have come to realize your own beauty and your own capacity for good.

As you graduate, I hope that you will take with you the best of Sacred Heart. Take the satisfaction of challenges met. Take the exhilaration of obstacles overcome. Take the hope of dreams yet to be fulfilled. Take a trust that the bounty of God will compensate for your limitations. Take a relish for knowledge and a thirst for truth. Take a commitment to preserve the human and natural resources of the planet. Take an appreciation for diversity and an understanding of collaboration. Be the person God desires you to be.

Above all, take the knowledge that you are loved and held gently in the palm of God's hand.

Sincerely,

Mary Burns

ADMINISTRATION

I congratulate each and every one of you for your part in making 1996-1997 a memorable year at Sacred Heart. I hope that this memory book will bring back pleasant memories of the teachers, classmates and friends, as well as the numerous activities we have enjoyed together.

To all the graduates, best of wishes in your future endeavours and to all students in Secondary I-IV continued success in your studies and dedication to making Sacred Heart the great school it is!

Peter Kousik

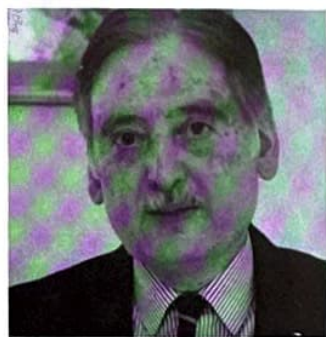

Dear Graduates,

There are so many things I want to say as you continue on your journey, but, my space is limited. My wish is that each of you get to know yourself, and accept yourself for who you are. Know what you want and work hard for it. Live in the moment, maintain a sense of humour and feel joy.

It is only with the heart that one can see rightly. What is essential in life is invisible to the eye.

- Antoine St-Exupery

With much love - R.D.T.

To the Graduates of 1997

Congratulations, your hard work has been rewarded, you are now a proud member of the graduating class of 1997. Take with you the fond memories of your fellow graduates and students, administration, faculty and staff at Sacred Heart because you will cherish these as you go forward to the next stage in your lives and careers.

You will leave behind an environment which has taught you good values that you must hold onto, as you chart the next stage in the learning process. Come back and visit to renew old friendships and make new ones. The school will be recognized by your own successes, in any endeavour and it will be enriched when you remember your roots. Good luck and God bless.

Abid Salman

Class of 1997,

Congratulations and best wishes to the class of 1997! The next phase of your life is beginning and although you may be a little apprehensive, you will find that the experiences you have had at Sacred Heart will help you to cope with whatever challenges you may face. The friendships you have formed here will be lasting. I hope that the values of respect and caring for others, strength of character and gratitude remain with you always and give you confidence to do the right thing. I feel that each and every one of you has special talents that can make a difference in this world, and I am sure you will! Please keep in touch with your school in the future, sharing your joys and successes as well as your sorrows. Remember that Sacred Heart will always be your home and that you are always welcome here. It's been my great pleasure to know you and I will miss you.

Barat

What can I say about the Barat bears of 1996-97? We had a great year together-we worked hard, had lots of fun and really showed our Barat spirit! (We didn't do too badly in the house point department either!..."Show me the plaque")

Harkamal, Melissa, Jackie and Devorah did a fantastic job of running house meetings, organising adjutricing, making cards, planning our fair and house day, as well as all the little things that help make Barat the best house! (And thanks for all the munchkins!)

I am very proud to be Barat's house advisor-I had a great time during my first year on the job! Thanks to every single Barat bear for making 1996-97 a special year. To those of you who are moving on: Good luck, we'll miss you and remember-once a Barat bear, always a Barat bear!

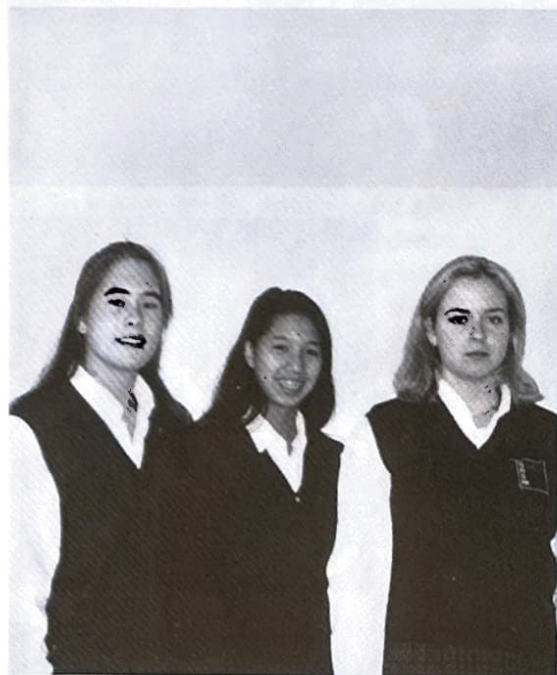

Love-Sandy O'Neill

P.S.: What a year for Mortimer-he fell in love and got married!! Good luck to you and your new bride, Morty-we all welcome her to the family.

DUCHESNE

DUCHESNE, we ROCK and don't you forget it! Thank you all for making my year a remarkable one. Special thanks to Stephanie, Sarah and Magalie, I don't know what I would have done without you. Thanks Ms. Mastro and Ms. Vaupshas for your support. DUCHESNE, don't despair, when in trouble Snazzy will come to the rescue! We are RED HOT!

DUROUSIER

"Oh, when the Birds go marching in . . ." Hello, my Camp Edphy pals! What a year we have had! The memories of all your smiling faces at the Casino de SHSM and our SNL duRousier Day will be forever etched in my mind. To Arty, Vanessa and Liz: thanks, you have been unbelievable! To Miss de Mello: thank you for giving us carte blanche on everything! To my wonderful Big Bird-lovers; keep singing, cheering and laughing. We are taking over the school! Now, if only they would paint the halls yellow . . .

HARDEY

Dear Hardey House,

I can't believe the year is over and Hardey came in first! That was such a sign of what a great house we are and the talent we have in our house. M. Soret, Catherine, Claudia, Galena and Maliesha, Thank you. I thank every one of you in Hardey for your support. I was so overwhelmed and excited and happy by all your enthusiasm to participate and help throughout the whole year! You made the job House-head so easy and so much fun! You are the best!

Love, Ramona

THE TRINCANO PAGE

A sea of purple: Trincano shows its colours proudly at Camp Edphy

Daniela presiding over a house meeting in the Study Hall

Trincano goes to Grad: Daniela, Joanna, Nadia and Vicky on the Big Night, (notice how the house head isn't even wearing purple? hmmm . . .)

Well, this has been an awesome year for Trincano. The tone was set in September when Trincano raised the most money for the Breast Cancer Walk and we wrapped it all up coming in a close second to Hardey in the house point standings for the year. We have to thank Daniela Knowles for being a great househead and to all of her Executive. Good luck to Adele next year and may we all be proud to wear purple!

*"From quiet homes and first beginning,
Out to the undiscovered ends,
There's nothing worth the wear of winning,
But laughter and the love of friends."*

CELEBRATING COLOURS DAY AT CAMP EDPHY

Smiling their way through the second day of school.

Silly Sacred Heart staff.

MOUNT-ROYAL CLASSIC: BREAST CANCER FUND-RAISER

A Walk Towards Life

Cyclones and typhoons could not have held us back. We ran, walked, piggy-backed and jogged up the "wilds of Mount - Royal". "The sometimes pelting rain inspired us more than discouraged us." said an excited Sacred Heart student while she absorbed an apple and two cookies, after the event. The run/walk was a big success this year, and participation was bar-none. Even one of our own Sacred Heart students placed second, in the five kilometer run. Aside from the athletic achievements, we raised $10,600 for breast cancer research.

SECONDARY ONE

The Secondary Ones went on retreat September 27. Our retreat was held at Saint-Hermitage. When we got there, Ms. Mastro, Mr. Hammett and Ms. O'Neil led us into a large room with a nice view. To help us get to know each other better the teachers made up a "Get to Know You" game. After the game we watched the movie "The Air Up There" and then we ate lunch. We went outside to play and came back in to make a collage. We ended our day with the distribution of the retreat pins. Everyone agreed that it was lots of fun!

CARNIVAL

This year Carnival 1997 was a blast! We had fun during the outside activities like skiing, tubing and snowboarding but we also had fun doing inside activities like the games, using the karaoke machine and the Carnival dance!

DASHABUSTAAD

As usual, this year's Dashabustaad was an outstanding success. We were all astounded by the plethora of talent that can be found within the walls of school. From Irish dancing to singing, Sacred Hearters are not short on talent. The breakfast and show were enjoyed by one and all as we got the opportunity to thank our teachers for all that they have done for us. The only downer was that no one took any pictures! Next year don't forget your cameras!!

Bantam

Muck-caked soccer cleats and deflated soccer balls were no less a threat to this year's tough soccer team than Trafalgar at the beginning of the semi-final game which ended the bantam team's season.

"My team has had wonderful team spirit this year," said the coach of the bantam team, Ms. Vaupshas. "They played well in the Bantam Private School League. Many of the girls will go on to compete next year"

SOCCER Juvenile

Practices were intense as the juv y team, with red faces and wind-blown hair trained for their competitive games. The young women were ambitious, determined players, who were in love with the game - and with winning! The coach Mrs. Cumming, with enthusiastic help from the assistant coach, Theresa Lafave, brought these athletes to a silver medal at the seasons end. The manager, Angela Ampadu (also player #10) helped to organise the crew. Of course, the players get the most credit, for winning a silver medal this year!

CLUBS

LITTÉRATURE/CINÉMA

Ceci fut la première année que le club de littérature/cinéma ouvre ces portes. Une fois par semaine, les membres se réunissent et passent du temps à regarder des films en français ou à discuter de la littérature française. Ce n'est pas seulement amusant, mais on apprend à s'exprimer aussi. Ce club fut un succès, on espère le poursuivre l'an prochain.

DRAMA

This year, the drama club was in full swing and put on a great show for Christmas Wishes. The actors, directors, set designers, prop movers and light and sound operators worked very hard to ensure that all left for the holidays full of Christmas spirit. After Christmas, the club members looked forward to further developing their dramatic talents.

Abbey, C. For V. Elisii, E. Tchervenko, A. Young, J. Bishara, C. Kogan, N. Sami, M. M. Jelowicki, K-A. Brown, A. O'Gorman.

ART

This year in art club, we performed many interesting activities. With Suzy Lin and Lillian Yang as the heads of the club and both Ms. Gendron and Ms. Klugerman as the moderators, we not only made the decorations for Christmas but worked on other projects that the school enjoyed. This was a great year for the art club, a year in which everyone has participated . . . even those who are artistically challenged!

CHATTERBOOKS

Chatterbooks is an enjoyable club in which students, along with Ms. De mello, discuss and voice their opinions on novels they have recently read. Held weekly, the club is oriented towards encouraging students to read a variety of novels and participate in group discussions. Throughout the year, the students learn to analyze and appreciate excellent literature.

V. Mannion, G. Chronopoulos, M. Coussa Charley, S. Embriaco, L.M. Knowlton, M. McDonough, K. Ferreti-Gallon, K. Burkhar

PHOTOGRAPHY

The photography club is open to students in the senior levels. We learn the various functions of the camera and techniques in taking pictures. Lighting, focusing, and the placement of objects and people are brought to attention. The development of black and white film in the dark room is the most interesting part. Special thanks to Ms. Gendron for heading this club!

Melodies and Memories

One gloomy Monday evening, I sat at the piano and began practicing. My grandfather sat on the sofa behind me, smiling. I could tell he was enjoying the music.

I played a piece by Bach and he applauded. "What is that one called?" he asked excitedly.

"Little Prelude, Grandpa," I replied, although I knew in a short while he would not remember what I had told him. My grandfather had recently been diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease. He did not even know that I was his granddaughter. I sighed and continued playing. The music filled the gloomy room. I felt relieved hearing the sweet sounds.

Every time he came to visit, I played for him. Although he no longer recognized me, we still shared the love of music. Now, only melodies and harmonies held us together.

When no one wanted to listen to me practice, my grandfather was always more than willing. He always asked, "Could you play that song . . ." and then he would hum the tune. I understood which song he wanted me to play. I began to play Little Prelude in C major by Bach.

Sometimes, I thought about my grandfather's condition and felt sad. I remembered how he had always been there for me in my moments of loneliness. I smiled proudly when I recalled the many stories he had told me of his experiences in the war. Most of all, I thought about how much he had spoiled me.

Tears rolled down my cheeks at the thought of his not recognizing me anymore. I sobbed when I realized all those special moments were now in the past. Whenever I felt that way, I sat at the piano seeking comfort. The music soothed my soul and eased my troubles.

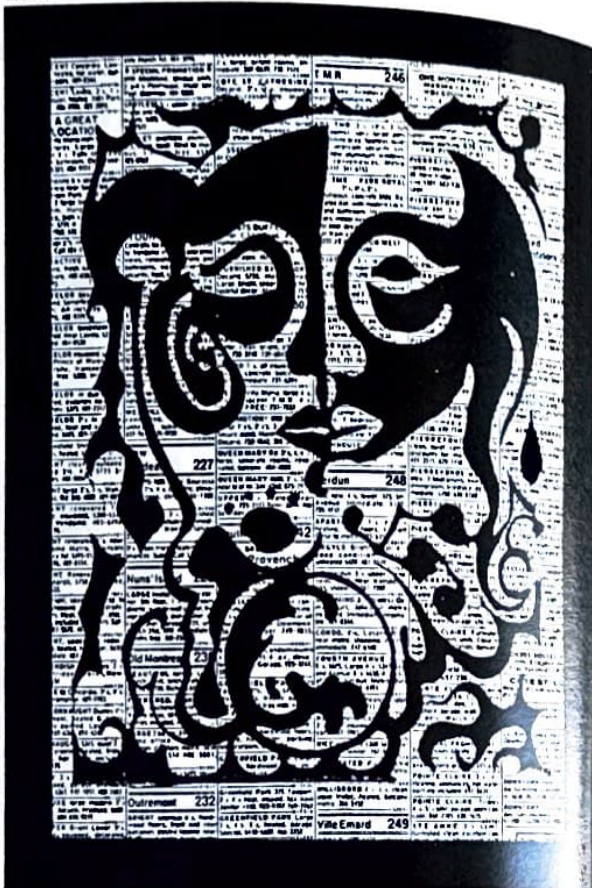

As his condition worsened, my grandfather was able to do very little. As cruel as life seemed to me, we were still able to share some very special musical moments. For now, music was our only source of true happiness. Often, I wondered if grandfather knew what was happening to him. I observed his face and not once did I notice any signs of fear. Somehow, I knew he was at peace. He had finally found a place and time in his illness where he was happy. With that, I was comforted.

Whenever I found him sitting near the piano, I was able to play with passion and dedication. I knew he loved the music, even when I had not played the piece as well as I should have.

As I sat at the piano, I smiled and reflected on the wonderful memories I had. I realized that I was fortunate to have grandfather in my life and that our lives had been blessed with the power of music.

The Old Path

The clear, bright, morning sky and the fresh, crisp air gave the allure of a perfectly beautiful day. I sat up and stretched in my bed at my parents' home in the countryside, awakened by the pale yellow light streaming through the delicate lace curtains of my old room. I had come the night before from my apartment in Montreal where I studied at McGill University, hoping for a peaceful, restful and enjoyable Thanksgiving weekend with my parents and my two younger brothers. Tim and Charlie had been more than overjoyed to see me and had informed me that they had kept my horse Abyad in shape by riding her throughout the summer. This news was encouraging, and I immediately planned to go for a long ride and a picnic lunch the next day. All I needed was warm weather.

As I awoke that clear morning, my hopes for pleasant weather seemed to have been granted. I was very excited, chattering incessantly throughout the homey breakfast of eggs, bacon and fresh bread prepared by Mum.

As we walked to the stable after breakfast, my bothers and I chatted. Tim carried my saddle and Charlie the packs I would need that contained my lunch, Abyad's lunch, and a first-aid kit. "Sara, which path are you going to ride?" Tim asked.

"Oh, I don't know. Is the Whites' old road still open?" I ventured.

Charlie smiled. "Yep! I took Blackie up there last May. The path was clean and the picnic clearing was just perfect!"

And so it was decided. I saddled Abyad, clipped the packs onto her saddle, and zipped a pair of old suede chaps onto my legs. I walked her out into the stableyard. Charlie gave me a lift into the saddle.

"Are you sure about going alone, Sara?" Tim sounded worried.

"Oh, yeah. I'll be fine! I've been riding for sixteen years, remember?"

Charlie beamed his lopsided grin. "See you! Have a great time and be back before dark or you'll never find your way in the woods."

The Whites' path was perfect, just as Charlie had predicted. Abyad and I rode up to the old clearing and had lunch together. It felt peaceful to be with my horse again. As we set out after our break, a few raindrops spattered onto the saddle. I decided to quicken our pace in order to arrive back home before a heavy rain started. The sky was blackening ominously as we approached a very steep incline in the path. Abyad plodded on, straining against the increasing wind and the steep slope. The rain was falling more heavily now, soaking into my chaps and into Abyad's warm fur. Suddenly, the earth seemed to give way under Abyad's left hind foot and she collapsed to her knees. I was thrown to the ground and plunged head first into a thicket of thorny bushes. I cried out in pain, Abyad echoing my cry with a whinny of distress. The rain, now thunderous, stung the cuts covering my face and arms. Abyad's leg was caught in a deep gopher hole and the slant of the incline made it absolutely impossible for her to move in any way. She was sprawled on the cold ground, shivering. Her eyes possessed a frightened, painful gaze. I knelt next to her and took her wet head onto my lap, stroking her face and crying silently. There was nothing I could do except stay and wait. It was too dark to see and I could not leave my horse alone. I only prayed that she had not broken her leg. Tim and Charlie, realizing that I was very late, would eventually come to look for me. Abyad suddenly let out a great whinny of pain. The torrential rain was causing her body to slide down the hill, twisting her trapped leg painfully. I hied on with all my might, struggling to pull her by the bridle. It was no use, she was much too heavy and Mother Nature was determined to drag her down out of my control. Her eyes implored me to help her, but I could do nothing. I let go of the bridle, fell to the ground, and screamed out in despair. Once again, my scream mingled with her whinny. Looking down at her, I gasped with joy. In the process of sliding, her leg had slid out of the hole. The rain had all but washed out the path and Abyad had slid to the foot of the hill. At the very bottom she regained her footing and stood up. Without a moment to spare, I too slid down the incline which now resembled a waterslide, and jumped onto my horse. Turning her around, we swiftly galloped back the way we had come.

Eventually, the house came into view. Charlie and Tim were beaming flashlights around the stableyard, searching for me. The fusebox had blown because of the storm. As we galloped into the stable yard and came to a stop, I lost all my energy and fell to the ground. Tim picked me up and Charlie took Abyad, who was still shivering.

"Next time, Tim, you guys are coming with me."

Tim smiled.

The Best Summer Ever

Robby had just finished his fifth-grade school year and he couldn't wait for his summer holidays! He pictured the long summer ahead, filled with warm days and adventures and savoured the thought.

Robby was eleven. He had blue eyes and blond hair. He lived in Toronto. To Robby, Toronto was the greatest place in the world. Perhaps it was because every summer he spent there was the best!

Robby remembered all the fun things he had done the summers before. He and his best buddies, Gary and Roger, did everything from exploring the "haunted house" to diving off the top of the old train trestle into the creek that ran through the bottom of Don Valley. This summer Robby wanted to do something new, something even more exciting than what he had done the summers before.

The next morning was hot and sunny. Robby got up and called Gary and Roger and told them to meet him at the corner store. They all were there on time.

"Hey Robby, why did you call us down here? I didn't even get to finish my breakfast!"

"Guys, I've got the greatest idea of what we can do today! You know the bridge that runs from St. Monica's Church to the other side of Don Valley?"

"Yeah, why?" they both asked.

"Roger, you bring that old rope from your garage and both of you get your bikes and meet me at the bridge," instructed Robby.

Thirty minutes later the three friends met at the bridge.

"I have the rope," said Roger. "But what are we going to do with it?"

"We are going to tie the rope to the bars underneath the bridge and this is the exciting part, we are going to swing on it!"

"But isn't that kinda' dangerous?" said Gary.

"Yeah, and couldn't we fall or something?" said Roger.

"Are you both chickens?" asked Robby.

"No way!" said Gary.

"Then come on!" said Robby.

Robby tied the rope around one of the bars.

"I'll go first, guys," said Robby.

He took a deep breath, then took a running start and jumping off the ground and onto the rope where he swung about wildly. It felt like he could fly.

"Yahoooooh! Look guys, I can fly. Get on! It's safe," Robby hollered. He looked down. He was high up, but he wasn't scared. He was having the best time of his life!

"You go first, Roge," said Gary.

Gary went to the edge of the land that led steeply down into the two hundred-foot deep valley. Robby swung towards Gary. Gary grabbed the end of the rope so that Roger could jump on too. It took him a while but he finally worked up enough courage to join Robby on the rope. When Roger was on, Gary jumped on too!

"You were right, Robby, this is fun!" said Roger.

"This has to be the best thing we've ever done!" said Gary.

"I know," said Robby.

"Yahooooooooh!" all three of them shouted at the top of their lungs.

That night in bed, Robby felt proud of himself. He had found something new and exciting, that he and friends could do this summer. He couldn't wait for the next morning. Today had been such a fun day for Robby. He knew this summer was going to be the best summer ever!

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Melinda Lontoc-Roy, co-editor

"If anyone is interested in working on yearbook next year, just write your name down on the piece of paper up here on the desk after general assembly . . . We don't think that either of us had any idea what we were getting into when we signed our names on that paper way back in May of '96. But we never looked back once, never regretted a thing; YA RIGHT! But seriously, it was worth it. It was an amazing experience that either of us will ever forget. We'd just like to take this opportunity to thank everyone from Jostens, Ms. Wright, Mrs. Rudinkas, our great committee (when you guys showed up), and especially Arty, Ingrid, and Helen. # VALEDICTORY ADDRESS 1997

Late last Sunday, I lay awake wishing for nothing more than to be able to put time on hold for a while. I was reluctant to begin the week ahead of me, because I knew that by the time I reached the end of it, my life would have changed forever; the daily routine to which I had grown accustomed would come to an end. The warmth radiated by the smiling faces I passed each day in the hall would wear off. The friendships I took for granted would become difficult to maintain. The sense of comfort I felt every time I walked through the doors of this building would soon become a distant feeling, and my every day reality would turn into an endless number of memories overnight. I guess I knew that by the end of that last week, there would be no turning back.

In September of '92, the class of '97 came together for the first time. Some of us were lost in our oversized kilts, others, lost in the oversized bows our mothers made us wear in our hair. Most of us though, were simply lost in our own fear and intimidation of this new beginning. None of us ever expected what lay ahead of us over the next five years . . .

Today, as we sit in our caps and gowns able to count the minutes until high school becomes nothing more than annual pizza parties and 10th year alumnae reunions, I look at us and find it incredible to think of how much we've shared as a group. We began this journey no older than twelve and we're ending it together today as young adults. All that happened in between can never be recounted in a speech. It's something each of us just hold in our heart. Some will forget it tomorrow and others will keep it with them throughout their lives.

Our class picture will go up this week. To the passersby it will appear to be nothing more than seventy-four tiny pictures. In twenty years our outdated hairdos and faces will probably be made fun of by the new students the same way we made fun of the graduates of twenty years ago. But to us, behind every picture lies each accomplishment, each failure, each moment of happiness and sadness we experienced over the past five years. To us, each picture is a reminder of the short part of our lives that we have spent together.

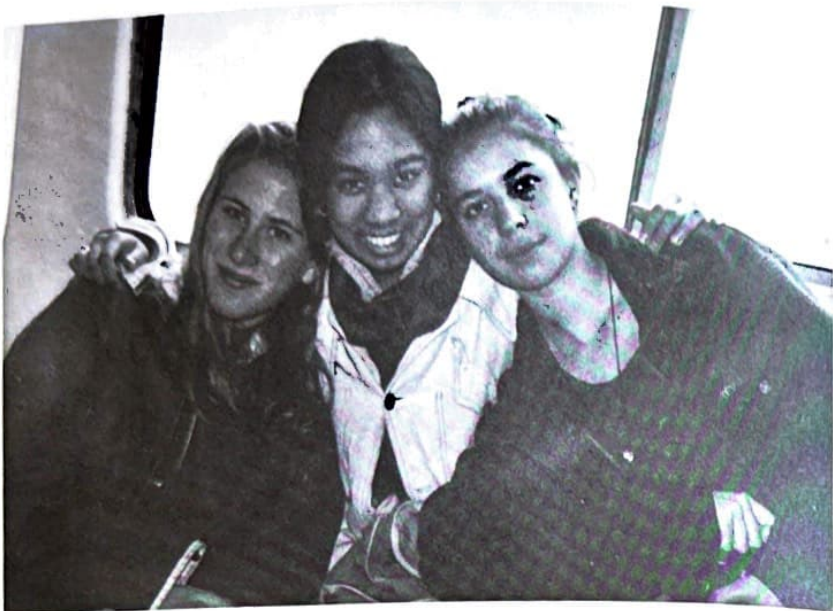

What I will remember for as long as I can are the little things. The things which are making it so hard to say goodbye. The late Stratford nights. The practical jokes. The numerous unproductive prefect meetings. The pride of being injured in a rugby game. The useless hours spent in Ms. Del Torto's office. The blessings. The inexplicable laughing fits. The out of control classes. The look of fear on our teachers' faces when we walked in holding our new licenses. The high five's as we walked down the hall. The inside jokes. The hugging and all the traditions which don't exist beyond these walls.

To our teachers we owe everything. Our gift to you for being so patient, comforting, caring and dedicated will be every doctor, politician, lawyer, singer, actress, scientist, artist, businesswoman and teacher that rises from this group. Each one of you has left his or her mark on at least one of us, whether it was because of a pat on the back, a friendly note, a hug or even a small sincere smile. Wherever we go from here, never will we be able to knock on another faculty room door and feel as safe and comforted by the faces that answer it.

I often joked with a couple of my teachers, and asked if I could stay just one more year if I behaved properly. And as much as I really would like to, I know I can't. As hard as it may be to leave a place where teddy bears can get married, a place where we are still gathered together to hear children's stories, a place where teachers give us stickers on our physics tests, cheer us up with lolly-pops and chocolates and call us their little bunnies, we must find the strength to put it all behind us. Ms. Del Torto often says "carpe diem" to herself. Graduates of 97, wherever the road of life leads us, let us seize the day. Let us turn our lives into something extraordinary and leave our mark on the world. Only by graduating and moving on, will we have the opportunity to show her we were all listening.

Andrea Alter, Class of 1997

IN A GIRL'S SCHOOL

David Morton

These walls will not forget, through later days,
How they had bloomed with lifted, tossing heads
Of swaying girls who thronged these ordered ways,
Like windy tulips blowing in their beds.
They will remember laughter down a hall,
And eyes more bright than blossoms in the grass---
A dream to haunt them, after all and all,
When they are dead with dusty things that pass.
So that some wind of beauty, waking them,
Whose breath shall be new summertimes for earth,
Will stir these scattered stones to dream again,
Of blowing shapes, of brightening eyes and mirth,
And corridors, like windy tulip beds,
Of swaying girls and lifted, tossing heads.
